

MNDC Game No. 21, 2019-15

Fantasy Flight Games in Roseville, 9/21/19

Summary

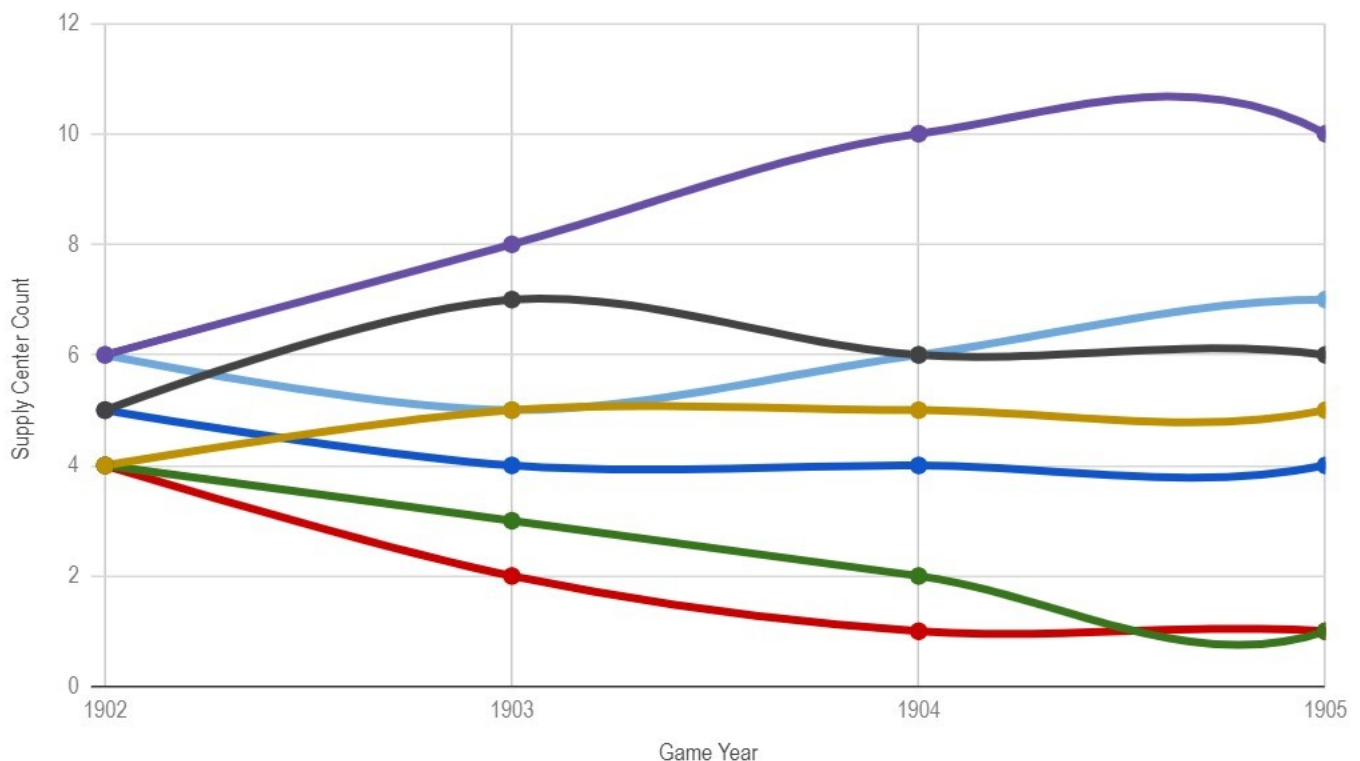

Tim Scheller's Russia got off to a fast start and never looked back, gobbling up Austrian centers while promoting instability in the north, where England, France, and Germany failed to cooperate for more than a year at a time.

Jeff Rosenberg made his MNDC debut as Turkey, skillfully taking advantage of tension between Austria and Italy. His growth, however, was stunted by a wall of Russian armies by his border.

* For a given season, a player's standing is the sum of his/her three best games plus the average of his/her leftover games.

† The MNDC uses the "Sum of Squares" scoring system to score individual games. Procedure: For a given game, a player's final supply center count is squared, then divided by the sum of every player's squared supply center count. This result is multiplied by 100 for a final score. A player that gains 18 centers (called "soloing") receives 100 points while everyone else gets zero.

‡ Change in standings is a player's place change in the season standings since the last game played.

§ Best Country titles are awarded to the player with the highest score for a given country at the end of the season.
